THE ION CENTER EDUCATION PROGRAMS

Ion Center Education Specialists provide trainings on violence, trauma, and advocacy, equipping participants with the knowledge and practical skills needed to respond effectively.

Participants gain an understanding of survivor experiences, improve identification and response practices, and strengthen trauma-informed approaches within their work.

Trainings enhance professional competence, support safer work environments, and promote survivor-centered systems of care.

Adult & Professional Programs

Our wide range of training offerings give participants the skills and strategies for identifying and preventing PBPV in their workplaces and communities.

Program Features:

Tailored content for age and profession

Experienced Ion Center education specialists

Flexible delivery: on-site and virtual

Middle & High School Programs

Students engage in interactive classroom sessions and activites designed to identify boundaries, communicate with peers, and prevent violence through bystander intervention.

Programs include It's My Space for middle school and Green Dot for high school.

College Programs

The Ion Center is proud to partner with Norse Violence Prevention at NKU (inside.nku.edu/nvp) and Jefferson Community and Technical College.
